In the beginning . . .

"Summer can't possibly be over yet! I can't believe that school is starting AL-READY!" These were the ever familiar phrases heard all over the halls of Bishop Luers High School on August 26, 1983, the first day of school. After a scorching hot summer filled with parties, cookouts, and just doing anything to beat the heat, it was hard to get back to the business of school. Homework, lectures, book reports, and term papers seem so boring and dull after the easy, laid back attitude of summer.

To the graduating class, the seniors, the beginning of the 1983-84 school year was the beginning of the end. Only nine more months of high school before they are free. It is the time to make decisions about colleges and jobs, the time to send in those college applications, the time to fill out all the scholarship forms, and the time to start thinking about life after high school, but most of all the time to have fun ruling the school and being with their friends as a class for one last time.

As the class of '85 enters their third year of high school they are now upper classmen. No longer little guys of the school, they have passed into the upper ranks. It is now the time to turn their minds to the more serious thoughts of PSAT's and the dreaded SAT's, where to go to college, and getting good grades for college transcripts. But of course, junior year is not all serious and subdued, the juniors take time out to party, have fun, and be RADICAL!

The class of '86 is finally away from the ninth grade and all the teasing and insults that go along with being freshmen. They are now very involved with driver's education so that they can take a break from walking to Pizza Hut after games and parties. No longer at the bottom of the heap, the sophomore class is moving up!

And usually always last, the Frosh, they have now made the big step into high school. The class of '87 is filled with new faces, which are often full of fear and anxiety. They soon realize that everyone is a part of the family at Luers and the elevator passes and the teasing are only part of the fun.

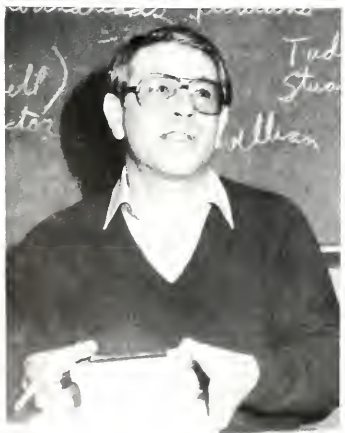

Now the students of Bishop Luers have been introduced. They are the ones who "did it right"! Whether it was in academics, sports, spirit, friendship, or fundraisers the frosh, sophomores, juniors, and seniors of Luers always did it quite right and that's what Luers Spirit is all about!

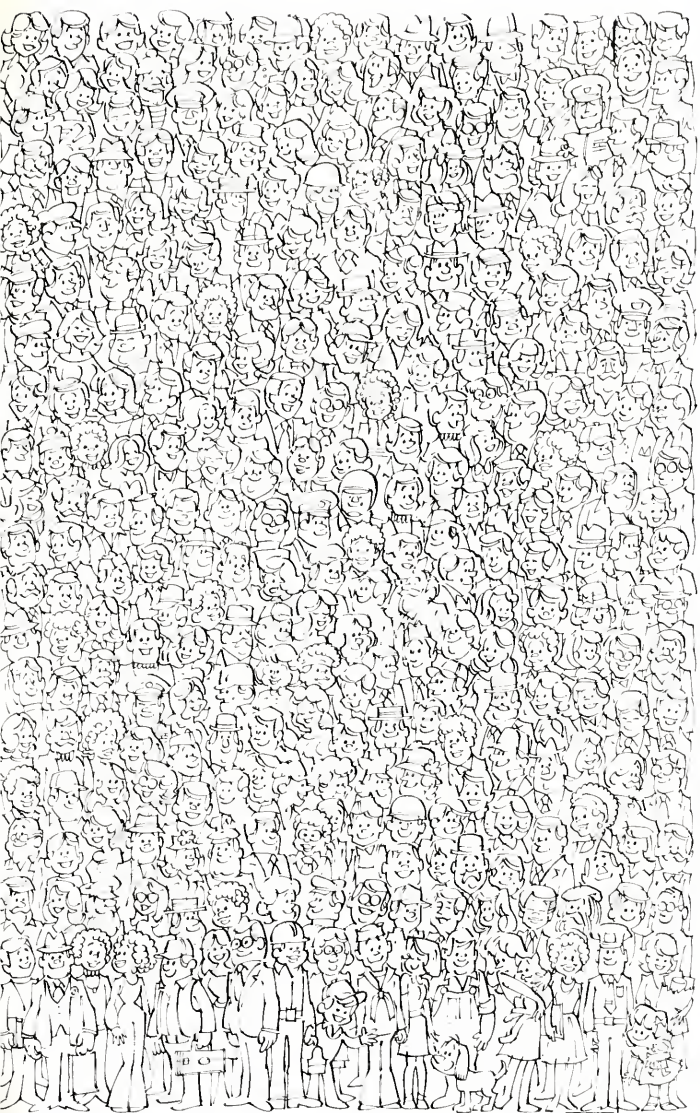

Natalie Slater, Chris Conroy, and Dan Morken—best buddies!

Luers' students continuously braved the freezing cold temperatures to show their support for the football team.

PEOPLE

Senior leadership was evident in many sports especially Football. Senior captains, Tim Mullins, Mike Gigli, and Tom Quackenbush, call the coin toss before the start of the game.

Back Again!

Yes, the class of 1984 is back again. But this time we are seniors! We've long since bypassed our freshman year filled with the anxiety and uncertainties of a new school and making new friends and the triumphs of our winning hall, "Knights, one in a million" and great powderpuff victory. Gone forever are the sophomore days of driver's education, religion with Father Bill, and our fantastic tel-a-thon skit. Junior year with Sister Jeanne and Chemistry, our first annual Budreau Day, the dreaded English term paper, and the ever eventful junior retreat are all history now. But we have returned to Luers for one last time to preside in senior hall and to make our senior year special and unique as only we can!

Religion—Senior Style

Success! It is measured in many different ways by many types of people, but to the seniors' class of Bishop Luers High School it is passing both of the required religion courses, sexual maturity and religion synthesis. Sounds pretty easy, right? But do not be fooled. Fr. Carl, the senior religion teacher makes sure that neither of the senior religion classes is a joke.

In sexual maturity the seniors are urged to discover how to appreciate themselves and others as sexual human beings. This study includes reading at least two novels, writing numerous essays, doing several directed studies, and the infamous Latin breakdown of words. Last but not least, the seniors do a project such as taking care of an egg for two weeks as if it were a child or planning a wedding and honeymoon taking into account financial, psychological, and emotional responses. At the end of this course seniors have learned what it means to be a sexually mature person.

In Religion Synthesis seniors put together what they have learned for the past twelve years in Catholic Schools. This includes the knowledge acquired and the experience gained through the years. This class also requires the reading of novels, the writing of essays, and the directed studies. Each student is also required to have an interview with Fr. Carl.

Fr. Carl spends his spare time making up new and more difficult assignments for seniors.

Homework, Homework, and More Homework!

Assignments, D.S.'s quizzes, tests, term papers, and quarter projects kept the seniors very busy before they graduated. Or in other words, they had alot of homework! This homework lead seniors to use up alot of supplies, to study for many hours, and to accomplish a variety of tasks.

Before any of those tasks could be complete, supplies had to be obtained. Textbooks, workbooks, reference books, and dictionaries were major factors in completing senior year homework. Seniors also used typewriters, typing paper, and alot of correct-o-type. During the 83-84 school year, most seniors easily could have depleted a supply of 6 or 7 notebooks, 2000 pieces of loose-leaf paper, 2 or 3 ink pens, 5 or 6 pencils, and three times as many erasers!

Homework for seniors not only required alot of supplies but also alot of hours. Many studying hours were spent in the computer room, in libraries, and in other rooms for studying. Studying past midnight or studying in the early hours of the morning before school were common practices for many seniors.

After working many hours and using up many supplies, the seniors completed a variety of homework challenges. Government, economics, and sociology D.S.'s with A, B, and C levels; computer tech and programming D.S.'s; and Fr. Carl's D.S.'s, readings, and essays were common challenges for many seniors.

In senior hall it was common knowledge when there was going to be a physics, trig, prob, calculus, or English test. Now, after graduating, the common challenges of senior year homework have simply become common memories!

SPRIT . . .

After the 83-84 school year ended, it was easy to recognize that the class of '84 was a class with alot of spirit. Whether as individuals or as a group. The seniors demonstrated their spirit in many ways.

Well-over half of the 149 seniors were able and willing to give up their time and energy for Key Club, Accolade, FBLA, Pastoral Care, Knight News, and Student Congress. Sports at Luers were supported by many seniors who participated by playing and by cheering. Many victories were accomplished with the help of spirited senior cheering. The Spirit Bear wore '84 numerals after the majority of pep assemblies (it wore '83 once). The Class of '84 also showed its winning spirit at the Baccalaureate Mass by singing and praying.

The members of the class of '84 radiated alot of spirit wa they gave of themselves to Luers in their many unique and special ways!

Throughout the 83-84 school year, some crazy and goofy characteristics of the senior class were very evident. The Class of '84 could easily be described as a class with a sense of humor. Laughter often filled the air when seniors were around, and the different smiles of 149 seniors uniquely decorated Luers.

Many situations left seniors laughing and smiling during their fourth year at Luers. The purple skirts and bandaids of the 2nd Annual Budreau Day; the sound effects of the McArldle movies; the screams of Mary Libbing's terror when she found a calf's heart in her locker; and the amusing imitations by Dean Robinson, Tim Alderdice, and Carl Pontecorvo kept many people laughing.

Whether the seniors were together during school, after school, on the weekends, or during holiday vacations, crazy, silly, funny, and goofy things were bound to happen! The Class of '84 knew how to laugh and to have fun while they were at Luers!!!

VALEDICTORY

Fr. Fred, Ms. Lombardo, faculty, parents, friends, and fellow members of the Class of 1984, when I sat down to write this speech, my feelings were mixed and my thoughts were very jumbled. I felt in my heart feelings of regret, fear, pride, confidence, and love. The thoughts in my mind were disorganized because I was searching for just the right words to convey my mixed feelings to my fellow graduates. There is no way I can organize my feelings about the last four years in a short speech, so I am just going to explain them as best as I can.

As a graduating senior, I cannot help looking back with a few regrets. I regret the snow days we did not get during our Junior year, and coming in 2nd instead of 1st with our Sophomore skit. But more importantly, I regret missing chances to become closer friends with many of my classmates and forgetting, at times, to enjoy a little more and worry a little less.

Now that we actually have our diplomas, there are many fears staring me right in the face. I fear the possibility of tripping down these few stairs to return to my seat. After leaving this gym, however, I will still have some fears about what the future holds for the Class of '84 in college life and in the working world; and most of all I fear losing touch with my special friends, the Class of '84.

Being a member of this class has made me feel a great deal of pride. Never before did a class have the foot of Kim Geise which kicked the field goal to lead our freshman class to victory in powder puff football. I also have pride in the fact that we pulled together to support and to celebrate our record setting, senior lead football team. However, I felt the most pride in my class Friday morning as all our voices filled the Cathedral with song.

Along with these feelings of pride come feelings of confidence in my class. I am confident that we will not miss the fragrant aromas from the chemistry room. I have confidence that we are well prepared to meet the future. I am assured of this because of the knowledge and experience we have gained through the dedication and encouragement of our faculty and principal, Fr. Fred. As we live out our futures and we experience failure, I am confident that we will not be defeated by failures and that we will learn from them.

Yesterday, after this speech had been written, corrected, and typed, my sister gave me a graduation card in which there was a poem. This poem beautifully expresses a message which my thoughts were struggling to convey to my class. The poem is "Always Have a Dream," by Amanda Bradley, and it reads . . .

Forget about the days when it's been cloudy,
But don't forget your hours in the sun . . .
Forget about the times you've been defeated,

But don't forget the victories you've won.

Forget about mistakes that you can't change now,

But don't forget the lessons you've learned . . .

Forget about misfortunes you've encountered,

But don't forget the times your luck has turned.

Forget about the days when you've been lonely,

But don't forget the friendly smiles you've seen . . .

Forget about the plans that didn't seem to work out right,

But don't forget to always have a dream.

I have two last thoughts I wish to express to my class. First, I sincerely believe that the four years we have shared here at Luers, the good times and the bad, have created a common bond between us which will always keep us joined in spirit and in friendship. And second, I truly hope that the future is full of only laughter and good times for the Class of '84. However, the future may not always be perfect, so I would just like my friends to remember three little words that the people I love the most in this world, my family, have told me, "hang in there." I feel very blessed to have four years of memories from Luers, and may God bless my friends, the Class of '84, and all those special people sharing this day with us

MEMORIES!!!

Memories of all school liturgies in the gym.

Memories of the great times had by all at Intramurals.

Is There Life After Luers?

Kathy Colligan and Mike Kelker boogie down at the Christmas Dance.

After the games, dances, homework, and lectures are finished what happens. The answer is quite simple. Plenty! Even though the common bond of Bishop Luers is gone, there are still friends, good times, and memories.

In August the class of '84 will once again be busy for nearly all of its members are off to various colleges, trade schools, and technical schools to further their education with anywhere from one to eight years of school. Fields of study range from business to engineering to education. The class of '84 will take with them tremendous amounts of knowledge, the love of parents and friends, and a great deal of skill and determination from their years at Luers. So, yes, there is life after Luers, and there is alot of it!!!

Cheering on the state runner-up football team was a favorite senior pastime.

RADICAL JUNIORS

At every pep assembly, our class spirit sign said it all—RADICAL JUNIORS! We are a unique group, quite different from any other class that's ever attended Luers.

Why is the class of '85 so unique? One of the reasons might be that every one of us is different, no two of us are alike. We all have different interests and are involved in many different activities. We are athletes, cheerleaders, Key Clubbers, Student Congress and National Honor Society members, Minstrels, partiers, students, and above all, RADICAL JUNIORS.

Some people might look down on the class of '85 for being called a radical class, but most juniors seem proud to be called RADICAL. Hopefully, we can keep up our RADICAL image throughout the rest of our junior year, and maybe into our senior year. Who knows? We may be the RADICAL SENIORS!

Natalie Slater smiles to the crowd as she performs the cheer "Amazing."

Juniors!

Our junior year was a special year. The class of '85 is now one year closer to completing a giant step that holds ahead of it our future. As we approach our senior year, there are decisions to be made, challenges to fulfill, and most of all, an eight-month period in which we will find that we and our classmates have grown up—developing the individuality that Fr. Bill once said we would develop on our first day of Morality and Spirituality 10.

Even after getting a big hug from Fr. Bill as a sign of acceptance and love, we still knew little about the 136 sophomores in our class. From that moment on, we 136 sophomores would form our morality and spirituality that would carry us through to our senior year. And a great senior year it is to be!! The class of 1985 will make it!!! We are not the same people who entered Bishop Luers three years ago, but seventeen-and-eighty-year old men and women.

It is scary to think there is only one more year of football games, dances, and parties that half of the school seems to be at.

Now is the time to make decisions. College? A job? Work? A husband? A wife? Who... me? Questions we'll soon have to face. But it's also a neat feeling at the same time. Independence—no curfew, no one to yell at us for not having our room cleaned up or for not having the car home on time, and no one to answer to.

But we do have a little time left. A year, in fact, to be the crazy class of '85 we have always been and probably always will be remembered as.

EXCLUSIVELY JUNIOR

On a Tuesday evening in autumn, a surprising number of juniors found themselves turning their televisions on to watch the 21 ALIVE news. No, this was not a sudden revival of interest in intellectual enrichment, but rather, a spirited interest in witnessing a fellow junior, John Jenkins, make his television debut by challenging sportscaster Greg Johans to a field-goal kicking contest. John gloriously triumphed, and the juniors declared the day "J.J. day" at BLHS in honor of John's achievements. Exclusively Junior

The student body eagerly waited for the announcement of the grand-prize winner in the Luers Walkathon, the student with the most collected pledges. For the second year in a row, "class of '85" member Mike Williams was awarded this prize. Exclusively Junior

Skit time rolled around again, and the juniors at Luers were determined to follow up on the fine skit that had earned them a second place. However, the "class of '85" found themselves preparing their skit in a last-minute frenzy, and memories of their infamous frosh skit haunted them. Though the skit finally produced was an improvement over their frosh skit, the juniors could not match the excellence of their sophomore skit and received a fourth place. "Despite the problems we had, we are proud of our skit and can say for certain that we had a lot of fun putting it on," remarked skitworker Lisa Hill. Exclu- sively Junior

From their top-seeded tennis players, John Zern and Jane Filus, to the mouth-watering aromas that traveled down their hall from the Home Ec. room, the "class of '85" could brag about a number of experiences and students that belonged exclusively to the junior class. The exclusively junior religion teacher, Sister Mary Ann, referred to the "class of '85" as "Good News." Indeed, they were. This class, as athletes, musicians, students, leaders, helpers, and of course, partiers, spread love and happiness in all they did. The entire "class of '85" beat to the same big, happy heart that was exclusively theirs. Exclusively Junior

AA Excitement

Excitement electrified and chilled the air as the fans from Bishop Luers stepped away from the busses to the football field. It was on this very field that the skillful Luers team would play a grueling and exhausting game against Indianapolis Chatard.

In a unique effort to show spirit, many of the Luers fans were clad in red garbage bags. Bishop Luers was fired up! Sophomore Ann Ueber said, "As I looked at the barren Chatard stands, and then glanced next to me at the sea of red, I realized how great Luers Spirit really is."

Luers was excited . . . nervous . . . hopeful. They were excited because this was their first trip to a championship game. Luers was nervous because they were facing a number one ranked team. Ah, but, Luers was also a good team and that is why they looked hopeful . . . Hopeful of victory. "It was an exciting game when we got the first touchdown. People from all over Fort Wayne showed their support for us," stated Chris Palmer, sophomore. Another sophomore, Ed Rondot, said, "The emotions were electrifying throughout the game. We always knew we had a chance. It was great!"

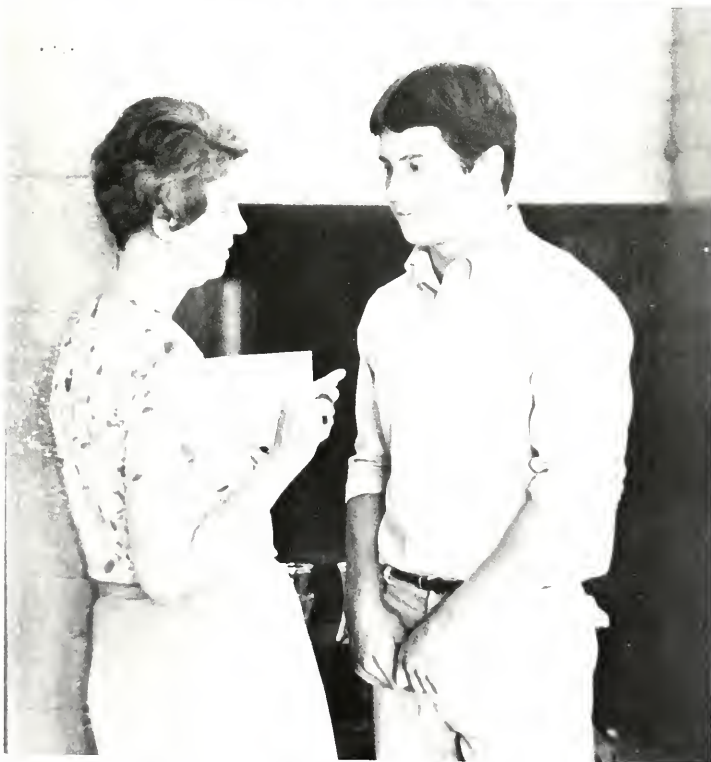

The game progressed, Luers was in the lead. Luers lost the lead. Then, they regained it again. In the end Luers lost. Chatard had been given its toughest battle of the season. The bus ride home to Fort Wayne would not be as long as Chatard had expected because Luers knew they had done well . . . and they always will. As sophomore Betsy Kitch said, "We almost did it! It was a close and exciting game, and even though Luers lost, we came out winners in the long run!"

Mark Litchfield "spaces out" during a study.

What If . . .

Q. What if you had to transfer to another school at the end of the year? How would you feel about leaving Luers?

A. "I would feel like I am leaving a second family. I would remember the Luers experience for the rest of my life."

Ed Rondot

A. "I would cry. I love Luers and I wouldn't want to go to a strange school with strange people."

Janet Slater

A. "I wouldn't like it. Luers seems more like a family than any public school."

Cal Miller

Q. What if someone from another school asked you about the Sophomore's Spirit? What would you tell him?

A. "I would tell him that we have very high spirit, consistently. The sophomores, from my point of view, really like this school and would very gladly stand up for it."

Chris Renninger

A. "I would say there is no doubt about there being a strong spirit for Luers among the sophomores or any other class or department of Luers."

Phil Black

A. "The sophomores have a real spirit. Everyone seems to care for everyone else."

Rose Fox

Q. What if someone asked you about the teachers at Luers. What would be your response?

A. "The teachers at Bishop Luers take time with their students to see that the students get everything out of a class that they can."

Ron Merkler

A. "I think the teachers really care about your grades and if you are having trouble in a class, that teacher would be happy to stay after to help you."

A PLACE TO RUN

It all began quite innocently; of course, most everything did then. It was during summer vacation when a friend and I happened on this place, a little park quite concealed and only a few blocks from my own home. When we first found it, we were much too busy to realize what we had stumbled onto.

For the next month or so we didn't return to that deserted little ghost town, for it had no great significance for either of us. It was just a place where one day on a long walk we had stopped and greedily taken in the hot summer sun. Little did I know that this small insignificant park would soon be my place of refuge.

It was now the last of August and my friends and I returned to school. I had been in school for about four weeks, four of the most terrifying weeks of my life, when suddenly it hit me. A voice inside me spoke sweetly and softly; I found myself drawn to a place not clear in my mind. The beauty of this foreign place was overwhelming, and soon I realized it was the park.

The little worthless park that I had partaken of so selfishly that summer. Suddenly all my sorrows disappeared as . . . as if they were lifted from me by some strange and wonderful force.

When I returned home that night I knew more sorrows would undoubtedly await me, yet deep in my soul I remembered that small voice which had drawn me to the park, and joy swept over me; I knew I had a place to run.

Freshmen: A new Beginning.

Nervousness, excitement, and confusion are some of the feelings that freshmen experience as they begin high school. Ahead of them is the challenge of meeting new friends and teachers. There are also many new experiences for them that will be scattered throughout the year. Nancy Mattingly commented, "I'm really enjoying my freshmen year. I have met a lot of new people so far, and with all of the dances and games, there is always something to do." Another freshmen, Danielle Berlin, said, "I find freshmen year very busy. It was different and exciting meeting new people from this school and other schools."

Amid the great confusion on the first day, making schedules, finding classrooms and lockers, and wondering where elevator passes are sold, many students begin to feel welcome.

The experience of a freshmen are new and exciting. There are fun events such as the Dance-a-Thon, Spirit Week, culture days in the language classes, and the Walk-a-Thon. Many freshmen participate in sports, such as volleyball, track, and football. The freshmen also attend sporting events in great numbers, especially football games. One freshman, Mike Riemen, said, "Frosh year was interesting!!! I especially liked the winning football season." Sharon Pictor said, "I really enjoyed football season. It gave the freshmen class, as well as the whole school, a chance to get together to show our enthusiasm by cheering for the team. We discovered we all had something in common; frosh love football."

Of course, being a freshmen isn't all fun and games. There is a lot of hard work to be done because students have six to eight classes. For freshmen, free time is a luxury.

"Behind the Scene at Luers"

The food service workers and custodial staff at Luers are a special group of people. They work to maintain the upkeep of the school and to provide the students and teachers with nourishing meals. In addition to providing these necessary services, they find enjoyment in their work. When asked why she likes working at Luers, Mrs. Joan Bauman said, "I like working around the kids, they are well disciplined and everyone is friendly." Most of these workers have already been associated with Luers as the parents of Luers students or Luers graduates. They have really been an important part of our Luers family and religious atmosphere.

Activity Surrounds Homecoming!

Each year homecoming unites current students with alumni for a week during the school year. This year was no different. In fact, it was a very special homecoming as it was the closing activity for the 25th Jubilee Celebration which began in May of 1983.

The week contained the typical dress up and dress down days, Mr. Chest (Jay Smith) and Ms. Legs (Jill Logan) contest, Hush Card Day, Skits and Walk-A-Thon. Saturday night featured some special events. The football team handed Concordia a severe loss (30-0). The Alumni Association gave away several prizes—during the game and halftime. The homecoming court was presented at half time. A fireworks display caused a fire at Southgate requiring the City Fire Department to extinguish it. The days of activities ended with the Homecoming dance and several parties for the Alumni and parents.

A fire in the Southgate parking lot caused by sparks from the fireworks display required the city fire department efforts to distinguish.

Walk-a-thon '83: Done Right!

Fundraisers! A major part of keeping Bishop Luers High School alive. Probably the most popular fundraiser among the students is the walk-a-thon. On September 30, the 1983 walk-a-thon took place. The goal was to raise $25,000 for Luers. This year, however, the students, faculty, parents, alumni and friends of Luers outdid themselves. Over $33,000 was raised. The total is nearly $10,000 over and above what was collected in the '82 walk-a-thon.

The '83 walk-a-thon was not without problems, however. Because of heavy fog the start of the walk was delayed for two hours. This failed to dim the spirit and enthusiasm of the walkers. After a send-off from Bishop McManus on Luersfield the participants walked, jogged, or even at times crawled twenty kilometers and returned once again to Luersfield for a feast of chili, hot dogs, potato chips, and pop!

The prizes in the '83 walk-a-thon were quite spectacular. The class of '86 was awarded a free day for collecting the highest average of pledge money. A ski trip to Cannonsburg was given to Mr. Lebamoff's homeroom, 161 for bringing in the highest average per person. And Mike Williams, the student who contributed the largest amount of money received two round trip airline tickets to Florida.

SPIRITUAL LIFE:

The rich Franciscan tradition, so much a part of Luers life, influences both students and staff members. Through the enthusiastic efforts of Fr. Carl, the Pastoral Care team works to benefit those spiritual needs of the community. Members of the team serve at liturgies as greeters, readers, helpers, musicians, singers, and technicians. Pastoral Care members also spend time praying for the needs of the community as well as those who may request prayers for various reasons. Team members also are there to extend a helpful hand to those who may be lonely or just need someone to talk with about problems they may be having. The Pastoral Care team is definitely a unique aspect of Luers Spiritual Life.

Luers also offers a student opportunities to express themselves on ideas of faith through the religion classes. Mass on Holy days and special occasions give students and staff an opportunity to worship as a community. A Day of Reconciliation was even established so that students and staff could make wrongs into rights in their lives.

FROSH LEAD IN CHRISTMAS DRIVE

The 1983 Bishop Luers Christmas Drive once again lent a helping hand to the needy families of the Fort Wayne community. Over $2800 was collected in homerooms in addition to 380 boxes of food, used clothing, toiletries, linens, bedding, and other requested items.

Homerooms representatives had the opportunity to shop for brand new items for each member of their adopted family. On Tuesday or Wednesday of the final week of the drive these representatives were driven by school bus to K-Mart where each family rep. could buy items totalling a certain amount. New items were then brought to Luers and wrapped by other homeroom members in order for the adopted families to receive gifts under their tree on Christmas morning.

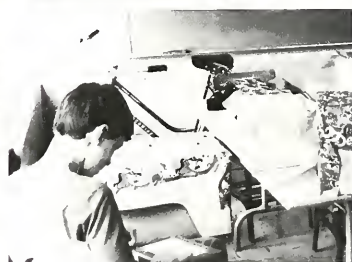

The frosh class led the way in the collection of money with a total of $1081.63. Top homerooms were awarded with a jar containing candy for each member of the homeroom. The top four homerooms were: 4th—homeroom 151, Mr. Mathew's homeroom, 3rd—homeroom 257, Fr. Gary's Key Club homeroom, 2nd—homeroom 242, Ms. Bucklin's homeroom, and 1st—homeroom 152, Ms. Roscoe's homeroom.

Over the past twenty years the Christmas Drive at Bishop Luers has donated $62,278.14 to the Christmas Bureau and Catholic Social Services. The needy of Fort Wayne can always depend on the generosity of the Luers community during this season of sharing and caring.

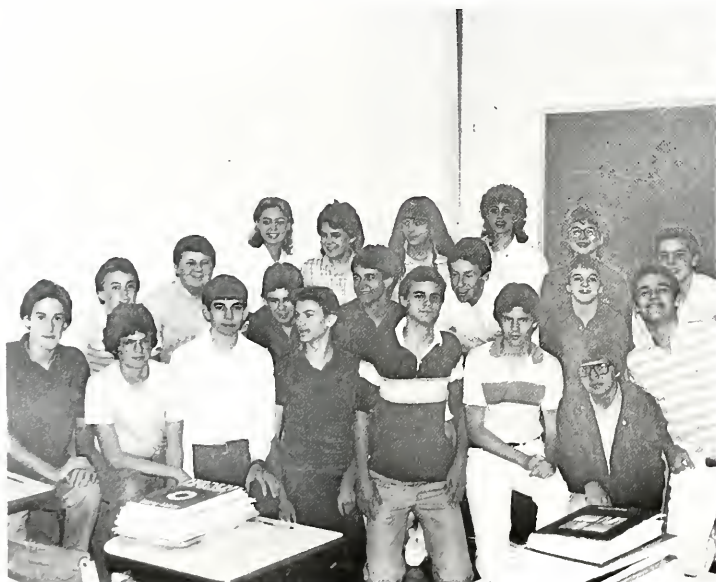

Thank you, students of Bishop Luers High School for your caring and understanding, making the 1983 Christmas for these families a reality.

Invitational Celebrates Its Tenth Anniversary

Minstrels, music parents, and music students were jolted awake at 5:00 a.m. on a Saturday morning by their alarms. Dragging their feet behind them as they prepared for the day ahead of them, the spirit of the event they were about to host began pounding through their bodies. Arriving at Luers at 6:25 a.m., the excitement was already showing. The Tenth Annual Luers Midwest Swing Choir Invitational was ready and set to go.

And go it did! By early afternoon nineteen of the Midwest's finest swing and show choirs, representing Indiana, Illinois, and Mississippi, arrived at Luers and enjoyed the royal treatment and musical magic of the event. By 4:00 p.m. all choirs had completed their performances for the six judges, two critics, and thousands of spectators from around the country. After an appearance by Luers' own swing choir, the Minstrels' master of ceremonies, Larry Bower, a ten year veteran of the contest, announced the instrumental, vocal solo, and technical crew awards. Then, praying hands could be seen throughout the auditorium as Mr. Bower read the names of six choirs that were to compete in the Championship Sing-Off that evening.

From the small sixteen member choir, Norwell Swing Set '84, to the Mount Zion Swingsation, twice the size, all six finalists gave excellent performances and fought fiercely for the coveted Grand Champion medallions and trophy which stood over five feet tall. The Noblesville N.H.S. Singers took top honors breaking a ten year trend of Grand Champions from only three schools: Carmel, Edgewood, and Marion High Schools. Special recognition was given to Father Fred Link, O.F.M. who founded and pioneered the Luers Swing Choir Invitational ten years earlier as choir director at Bishop Luers. His dedication and the dedication of the Luers community were what made Luers own swing choir contest the best and most highly regarded contest in the nation.

X-Country Excels

The Boys and Girls X-Country teams of 1983 were small but exceptional teams of only twelve and three members respectively.

The boys' team under new head coach John O'Connor had its best season in four years. The harriers defeated two other teams in regular season meets and did very well in some of the large invitationals. The host Knights did not fare well in the S.A.C. meet but did do better in the sectionals, placing seventh out of ten. The team, led by Kevin Mowan, Mike Diettrich, and Steve Bermes took great pride in the achievements made during the year. This team will miss all the seniors including Carl Pontecorvo, Tin Truong, next year as the harriers go for an even better season.

The girls' team, also coached by John O'Connor, consisted of the following three juniors: Angie Hook, Mary Coffee, and Bridgette McCarthy. The girls ran a 1.9 mile course but because of the few runners, had to forfeit every time. Hopefully, more runners will be out next season and the team can be competitive once again.

1983 State Runner-up AA

This was Bishop Luers 25th anniversary and what a better way to celebrate than to take a trip to the state finals in Indianapolis. It was the first trip to the state finals for any Luers football team.

Before the magical trip could take place, many, many hours of hard work had to be done. The senior leadership, led by captains Tim Mullins, Tom Quackenbush, and Mike Gigli, was a key factor in the winning success of the team. The offense was led by senior running back Dave Slater, who carried the ball 227 times for 1736 yards. The defense was led by senior linebacker Tom Quackenbush, who had 325 tackling points, a new school record.

The biggest game of the regular season was against arch-rival Bishop Dwenger. The Knights were leading 21-0 going into the final quarter, hoping for an upset. Luers lost a close game 29-21. This tough loss did not dismay the mighty Knights one bit, as they prepared for the playoffs against Lakeland. The Knights won their first playoff game in Luers history, 21-0. The next game was against a very tough Tippecanoe Valley team. Luers was down 14-0 going into the fourth quarter, but refused to give up. The Knights were victorious 27-14 in overtime, thanks to overwhelming fan support. The next game against Crawfordsville would decide who would go to the state final. On an icy cold night and a snow covered, muddy, and wet "Luersfield," the Knights overpowered their opponents 19-7. The excitement was just beginning! "LUERS SPIRIT" was in the air as the Knights were getting ready for the Trojans of Chatard. Over three thousand crazy Luers fans poured into the stadium in Indianapolis hoping for a victory. The game was very close, and was a hard fought battle all the way. The outcome was 20-16 ... in favor of Chatard. Luers ended their season 9-5 and state runner-ups, which is a great feat for being in the playoffs for the first time.

Coach Keefer and his excellent staff should be congratulated for the time and effort given to the football program. It is men like these who make the Luers winning tradition continue. Even though the Knights lost their last game, every person ever associated with Bishop Luers can feel very proud of every player on the team. The pride of Luers football will continue for many years to come. The Knights of Bishop Luers truly are: "KNIGHTS TO REMEMBER!"

The 1983 Bishop Luers Reserve Football Team posted a 3-6 record. Despite the record the team gained valuable experience for varsity play in the future. The inavailability of Junior experience hindered the team's performance. Although there was not much experience on the sophomore level, the reserve team worked hard in practice sessions and made good showings in their games.

Junior Darren Bogdon and sophomore Mike Neher lead the rushing attack with Bogdon gaining 762 yards.

The philosophy on the reserve team is to simply get the players ready for Varsity competition. During practice the reserves are mainly used to help the varsity team prepare for their game. By running the other team's offense and different defenses, the reserves serve a vital purpose for the overall team. Without the reserve team the varsity would be less prepared for an opponent. Many reserves moved up to play varsity games when the playoffs started due to injuries. Darren Bogdon, junior, played the slot position and junior Pat Mattingly played some defensive back and on the specialty teams.

The reserves team in 1983 has set a good example for the freshmen and sophomores who will play reserves next year.

Coach Keefer goes over the game plan moments before kickoff.

Frosh Gridiron Hard at Work

Under experienced freshman coach Mike Egts and assistants Jim Mungovan, Greg Jackson, and Jeff Slater, the Knights fought hard for a 2-5 season. Starting out with losses against Carroll, 26-0 and Harding, 12-7, the team battled back to the win column beating Wayne 15-6 and Garrett 7-6. The always tough Snider Panthers were next in line and they handed the frosh a big loss 35-7. Coach Egts did not give up though and pushed the team harder after each game. The Knights' next opponent came against archrival Bishop Dwenger. Dwenger broke out early in the first half but an impressive comeback followed with the frosh tying the game at 12 a piece. The frosh did not have quite enough though as the Saints went on to a 25-12 victory. The frosh had but one game left to play and the Cadets of Concordia knocked off the frosh 20-12. Even though the frosh record does not show it, they had the pride of a winning season.

Luers Ladies Standing Proud

With heads held high, the Varsity team went into a glowing season. They worked together as a team and excelled beyond the rest. Through hard work and many grueling practices, they made it through sectionals and were on their way to regionals. The tension and excitement was rising as the stakes got higher and higher. The fans were going crazy. Through hard work, determination, and team work they made it through regionals. The excitement had now reached a climax. They were on their way to semi-state. They were up against Muncie Burris, a team rated second in the nation by U.S.A. Today. This is where the girls' volleyball season was to end. Tracy Hicks commented, "We had a great season and did our best. It was a lot of fun and the support from the fans was really great."

Three cheers for the Bear, a number 1 fan, never missed a game!

Experience Will Pay Off

When the Reserve Volleyball Team entered the court in August, the team consisted of three freshmen, six sophomores, and four juniors. The starting line-up remained basically the same throughout much of the year being Clare Libbing, Dena Hofer, Laura Miller, Janet Slater, Nancy Mattingly, and Shelly Renninger. A few injuries and the lack of consistency during play hampered the team's overall ability, but still the lady spikers gave it their all. A 15-11, 15-10 victory over Snider and a 15-13, 16-14 victory over Wayne were the greatest wins of the season. Although the team ended the season with a losing record the players still received valuable playing time. "I know we did not have a great record, but the experience gained will sure help," quoted Laura Miller.

A Season For Learning

The '83-'84 Freshmen Volleyball Team consisted of eight hard working girls. Although playing together for the first time was hard, they soon learned to coordinate their talents. An inspiring coach, Ms. Peg Farrell, plus their individual efforts brought about a satisfying result. Although we finished the season with a 3 and 5 record, our team showed continual improvement throughout the season," remarked Co-Captain Jeannine Poiry. Their strongest showing was in the North Side Freshmen Invitational Tournament. "The team showed alot of spirit and promise and everyone is looking forward to next year's season," said Co-Captain Jenne Hill.

Jeannine Poiry and Renee Kumer jump up to block an attempted spike by the opposing team.

Gretchen Choka shows style and flare as she bumps the ball.

Andrea Lee knocks it over the net one more time.

A Sectional Triumph

The 1983 Boys Tennis Team proved itself to be one of the best in the city. Its 14-4 overall record stands as the finest finish in the school's history.

When the team stepped out onto the courts in early August, everyone was very optimistic. There were new faces of first year players and a first year coach. Coach Jake Dinuius, a graduate of Luers, took on the task of building this team into a hopeful success. There were many promising freshmen who came to strengthen the program.

The varsity line-up was solid remaining the same throughout most of the season. Bishop Luers is the home of the number one singles player in the city, John Zern. John was undefeated in the Summit Athletic Conference and is remembered by his teammates to have been a player who worked hard for himself as well as for the other members of the team. Number two singles player, Greg Habis, showed his strength when he took important victories over Snider, Wayne, and Concordia. Kevin Ward, the number three singles player, played solidly throughout the year taking crucial victories during sectionals as well as during the regular season. His greatest win came against Homestead's John Gilbert.

The doubles teams were the greatest concern of Coach Dinuius. Brett Hagedorn and Devin Danehy at number one doubles faced tough opponents throughout the year. They struggled winning only a few matches. Their strongest performance came in route to victory over Huntington Catholic. Mike Kelker and Neal Davenport were placed at number two doubles proving to be one of the strongest in the city. As the season progressed, both players had developed from a very inexperienced pair to a sizeable threat at number two doubles. Mike and Neal showed their ability twice in sectionals when play left them on the court to decide the overall team victory.

The reserve players showed the program that it had depth and a promising future. With such returning reserve players as Mike Ward and Tom Gildea, the strength of the Luers Tennis Team should continue through years to come.

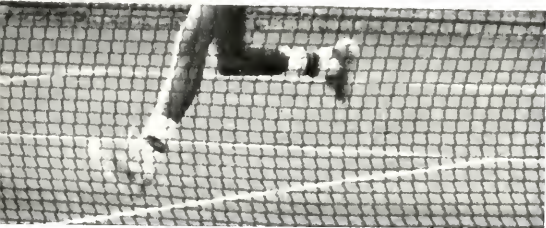

Soph. Kevin Ward returns a forehand in one of his 14 winning matches. He suffered only 4 defeats.

Attempting to hit a serve is freshman, Tom Gildea.

Three time All-Area and All-SAC selection, John Zern, gets ready to pound a backhand return in one of his 15 winning matches.

Finishing off a point is the doubles team of Neal Davenport and Mike Kelker. Neal and Mike were named honorable mention, All-SAC with a record of 15-3.

Noted for his hustle on the court is senior Greg Habig, who is seen here ripping a forehand crosscourt.

A Force In The Making

Upon taking the court in October, the varsity basketball players knew it would be a tough season. The absence of all time leading scorer, Tom Kinder, and a lack of varsity playing experience would hurt the team. Mike Jenkins, Tom Carteaux, and Tom Quackenbush were the only players to receive any previous varsity time and at that, limited.

Concern about who would lead the team in '83 was put to rest as Mike Jenkins came on strong. Along with being the leading scorer with an average of 12.8 points per game and shooting 4 from the field, he pulled down 170 rebounds. Second in scoring was Tom Carteaux averaging 10.5 points per game and leading the team in assists and steals. Filling the three other starting positions were Tom Quackenbush, John Berg, and alternating at guard, Dan Fink, Steve Bickel, or John Jenkins. Two freshmen established varsity playing time and needed experience for following years: Doug Kinder, a fine ball handler, and 6'5" Don VanDaele. Don who scored 83 points also broke the Luers record for most points scored by a freshman in a varsity game with 18 against Adams Central.

With fine freshmen players as these and others, Coach Tom Christle may be looking at an SAC power house just around the corner.

Reserves Show Potential

Having beaten the Bruin defender, Tom Minnick pulls up for the jumper.

The reserve team of '83 posted a 6-14 record but showed some fine potential for future seasons. In a big game against Heritage the reserve shot 40% from the field, 64% from the free-throw line, and pulled down 27 rebounds in route to a 49-46 victory. In a close loss to Northrop, 40-36, the Knights were 14 of 17 from the free throw line. The biggest win of the year came against Bishop Dwenger in the teams second meeting. 39-30 was the Knights winning score while shooting a promising 47% from the field. The team was lead by Tom Minnick and Gregg Tapp with Jerry Jenkins, Tom Figel, and Mark Zumbraegel making up the remaining starters. Gary Rogers took over the coaching position after previously being with the frosh.

Along with preparing for each upcoming game, the reserves practiced with the varsity, acting out the opponents and playing a key role in their development.

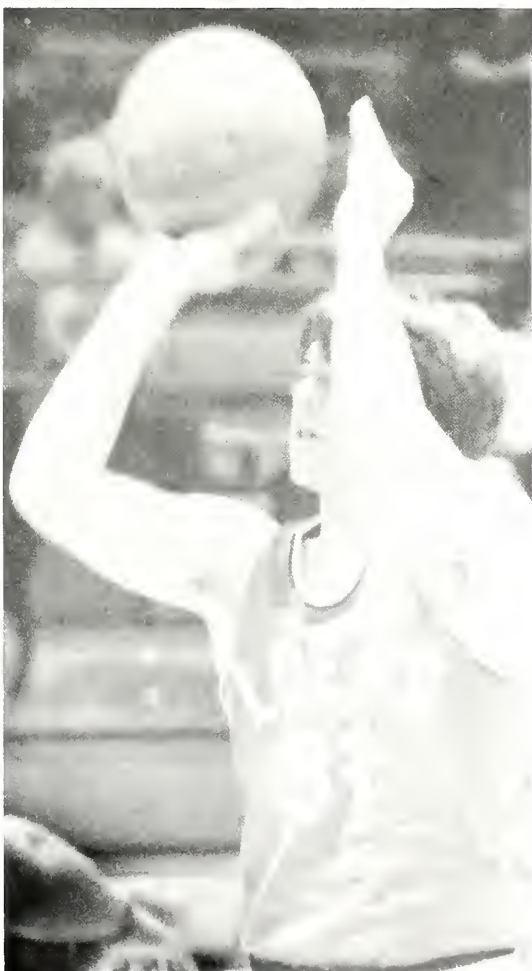

While at the charity stripe Neal Davenport concentrates on his release.

Frosh Anticipate Future

The Freshmen Basketball Team of 1983-84 maintained an unblemished record after their first eight games, including a double overtime upset of highly favored Northrop. The team leaders, Doug Kinder, who scored 131 points and Mike Ward, who scored 137 points were moved up to the reserve team because of their outstanding performances.

From this point on the team wasn't as successful winning only one out of the remaining eleven games. Coached by the outspoken Jeff Parrish, the freshmen ended the season with a 9-11 record. When these freshmen are finally united as one squad, the Knights will at last have a basketball team to be reckoned with.

A Bright Future

Under the leadership of Coach Mary Bucklin in her final season, the varsity girls basketball team may be on the upswing once again. The team established a 6-13 record but this fails to emphasize the hustle that was put forth.

The starting line-up consisted of Celeste Bogenschutz, Kim Geise, Kathy Colligan, all seniors, Pam Kinder, and Kate Murphy. Celeste Bogenschutz led the team in steals and assists. The top three scorers were Kim Geise, Kate Murphy, a freshman, and Pam Kinder, a sophomore. Kate led the team in total rebounds.

Highlighting the season were wins over North Side, 39-36 and Wayne in the opening game of the sectional tournament, 35-34, with the team coming back in the last minute of the fourth quarter.

Going up for the tip is Kate Murphy.

Dribbling by the Harding defender is the third leading scorer Pam Kinder.

Grapplers Move Up in Class

In the 83-84 winter sports season, wrestling established itself as the sport to watch. In its fourth year the team improved and pinned down 4 victories.

The two dominant leaders of the team were Cal Miller and Hugh Gerard. Cal, who wrestled in the 185 lb. class was 18-6 and led the team in pins and most points scored in a season, while a sophomore. Hugh led the team in most takedowns, nearfalls, reversals, and had a 18-6 record while wrestling at 126 lbs.

With only 5 seniors out of a cast of 22 wrestlers the program looks to develop more and soon reach the top.

Conditioning Pays Off

Late January the girls and boys track and field teams began to prepare themselves for their upcoming seasons. Morning practices beginning at 6:45 a.m. saw each person completing strenuous workouts—stretching, lifting weights, running, and performing the ever-popular "power drills." As the morning workouts continued the athletes gained needed strength and endurance and looked hopefully towards the successful season to follow. The conditioning phase of the pre-season training ended with the start of what may appear to be an annual event—THE CABIN FEVER RELAYS!!!

The success of this conditioning program could be seen on both squads. Both Coaches Ambrose and Roscoe agreed that improvement was the name of the game this season. They both credit the overall team improvement to a good foundation built early in the season.

An all time first for the girls track program occurred when the team saw three high jumpers, Kim Cyr, Danielle Berlien, and Shelly Renninger, qualify for sectionals in the high jump with 4'10" jumps in the same meet.

Bringing the club back slowly Kevin Adamson hopes to sink the putt.

Addressing the ball is senior Brian Budreau.

Linksters Enjoy Competition

In the 84 Luers golf season a combination of factors prevented the team from having a winning season but not preventing them from having fun.

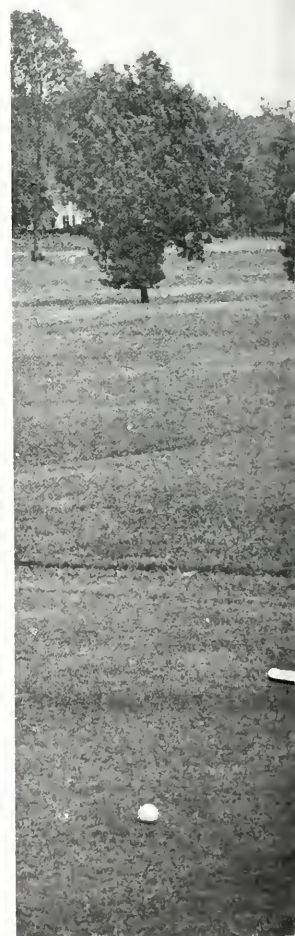

As a result of strong area competition, one example being eventual State Champion Northrop, the Knights were often defeated but were able to experiment with their game. The Linksters lost to Northrop by 10 strokes but Luers #1 player, Chris Nichter, fared well shooting a 38 and tying Northrop's #1 player. The graduation of key players Mark Ward and Bob Placido also hindered the team's success but offered an opportunity for new players to take charge and feel the excitement of varsity play.

Making up the varsity squad were Chris Nichter, Kevin Adamson, Chris Ward, Brian Budreau, Neal Davenport, and Tony Eckrich. Nichter and Adamson played #1 and #2, respectively, while the remaining players shifted to other positions.

Strange practice methods kept the Luers' golfers on their toes.

The Winning Continues

After a successful season start with six victories, the Luers Ladies' tennis team suffered their first season defeat in six years at the LaPorte Tennis Tournament. Yet this did not hold back the mighty Knights' team. The Ladies of Luers finished their tennis season with a 14-2 season record and a 8-1 S.A.C. conference record. The highlight of the season was the Carmel Invitational where the Knights swept victory titles at the number one singles and numbers one and two doubles positions.

Jane Filus (Junior), Jenne Hill (Frosh), Kathy Colligan and Shari Gillig (Seniors and Co-Captains) were recognized as All-S.A.C. players and Jane Filus was named to the ALL-State Team for the second year in a row.

After eleven years as the only head coach of the girls' tennis team, Mary Lombardo resigned her position at the conclusion of the 1984 season to accept the position of principal of Bishop Luers High School. Under her direction, the tennis team won 154 matches and lost only 21, a winning percentage of .880. Over the past eleven years her teams recorded the following championships: six times S.A.C. Champs—1977-1978, 1979-1983, four Regionals titles—1980-83, one Semi-State title in 1982 and two State Runner-up titles in 1980 and 1982.

Coach Lombardo looks for the tennis team to continue their winning tradition with the tremendous talent present with the underclass varsity and reserve players.

WAHOO! WAHOO!

Prior to the 83-84 soccer season there were many things expected and hoped for from the Luers team. A young but experienced team took the challenge to heart and worked at it. During the winter the Knights grabbed second place in the indoor league and received valuable time to work on ball control.

The outdoor season brought a new coach, Dave Husar, to the Luers' scene. Dave, a former Luers player, worked the team into shape quickly and brought about a very relaxed mood as well as the spirited

"Wahoo" cry.

Led by ALL-SCSC players Jon Halliwill, goalie, Mike Diettrich, center halfback, and Jim Casaburo, center forward and leading scorer, the Knights won 5 of their first 6 games losing only to later state champion South Bend Adams. The following game with Homestead was hotly contested and resulted in a tie. Two easy wins over Elmhurst and Wayne then set the stage for the long awaited Bishop Dwenger game. The Saints answered first on the board as they went up 1-0, eight minutes into the second half. With under ten minutes left and still trailing, the Knights started to make things happen until a goal by sophomore sensation, Tom Casaburo, was called back because of a highly controversial offsides call.

With the regular season completed every game became "do or die." After disposing of Northrop with ease a rematch with Dwenger was at hand. Unfortunately, the Knights did not have enough in the final game as Dwenger prevailed.

Dribbling the ball up the field is sophomore Pete Disser.

Streaking towards midfield while in control, Mike Diettrich makes his move.

Batters Hit Success

The Luers' baseball team enjoyed a very successful season in 1984, with a final record of 19-11. After a slow start (4-6), the Knights went on to win ten of their next eleven games. The Knights seemed ready to roll in sectionals after scoring 46 runs in the two games prior to the sectional semifinal. The Harding Hawks denied Luers' bid with a 9-6 victory.

Highlights of the season included: a 10-9 victory over the number one ranked team in the state, Elmhurst; a 6-3 SAC record, good for a third place finish; and winning the Luers Invitational with victories over Homestead and Concordia.

The Knights were led this season by a strong senior class. Led by ALL-SAC outfielder, Dave Slater, the Knights had a banner year at the plate. The three top hitters for the Knights were Dave Slater, Bill Fenoglio, and Tom Quackenbush. No less than ten of the sixteen varsity players hit over .300 for the season. Another important ingredient in their success was pitching. Jeff Wynn led the staff with a 9-3 record and was chosen second team ALL-SAC. The rest of the staff included: Jay Smith (4-5), Greg Habig (3-1), Jim Poiry (1-1), and Tom Minnick (2-0).

The 1984 Season was an exciting one for players, coaches and fans. Look for more of the same in "85."

Following through with power is Dave Slater. Dave had the highest batting average with a .466 and led the team in R.B.I.'s.

Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah!

It was a year to be proud of being a Knight. The Bishop Luers State Runner-Up football team brought the Luers family closer together.

Representing the Knights—the cheerleaders found it to be a rewarding experience: Assembly after assembly, game after game, the job seemed like it was never done. But for a number 1 squad, the heavy load seemed lightened. Chosen as the best competing Varsity Squad at a Ball State University camp session, the '83 football season was a time to shine. More than ever, the cheerleaders were appreciated for the many things they did to keep the "Luers Spirit" up.

As the football season ended on such a high note, basketball season unfortunately didn't get the attention it deserved. It got to be a long season and even though the Luers Spirit seemed to fade, it was the cheerleaders' job to keep that spirit up.

Twelve young women—closer now more than ever—found a personal fulfillment that a cheerleader, as well as any athlete, strives for.

Ann Walker—whatta gal!

Varsity and J.V. cheerleaders combined to build an exciting mount at a pep assembly.

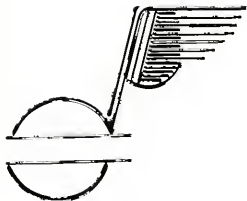

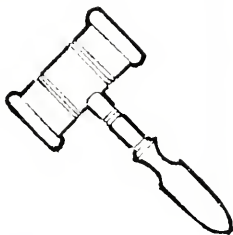

The three seniors—Maria Poitras, Diane Woenker, and Teresa DeVido—had a great time during their last year.

Four plaques and many 1st place ribbons rewarded the cheerleaders after a hot, tiring week at cheerleading camp.

Bishop Luers Key Club: A Winning Tradition.

At 7:15 every Monday night, members of the Bishop Luers Key Club trudge into 104, prepared to do some serious handraising to sign up for projects. A tap on the Key Club bell begins the meeting and the worklist is filled out.

The work of a Key Clubber is extremely varied. Jobs range from cleaning concession stands to keeping score for Johnny Appleseed Bowlers. There are also joint projects between Luers' Key Club and its parent club, Kiwanis, such as the Pancake Breakfast and the building of a park. Also there are the annual fund-raisers. Two such projects are the "Shamrocks for Dystrophy" campaign, a project for supporting the works of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, and the exhausting Dance-A-Thon, where funds were used to purchase a computer for the children's section at the Allen County Public Library. But the work doesn't end here. There are also the jobs of doing the monthly reports, the scrapbook, and the club newspaper.

The worklist must be prepared each week and points are tabulated for the work done by each member.

Then . . . success! Last year, the Bishop Luers Key Club won number one in the state of Indiana. That was the fourteenth year in a row. During that competition, Luers won first place in five areas: scrapbook, achievement report, monthly reports, club bulletin, and the single service project. Later that year they went to Florida to win first place in the world for the very first time! They had one of the very best performances ever in world competition, winning first place with the scrapbook and the achievement report. The single service project received fourth place. This project helped Daybreak, an organization for abused children.

Certainly the work and the victories won't stop here. That is what makes the sound reputation of the Key Club of Bishop Luers High School.

The Start Of Something New

Luers first Girls' Golf Club initiated its inaugural season with twelve team members. Out of the twelve girls, seven were beginners and the other five were more experienced with the sport. Beth Ruzzo, one of the five had the best scores throughout the season.

The team started practice in the middle of August and worked hard preparing for the season. The team played four matches and participated in the sectional tournament.

Peggy Ruzzo and Kathy Batuello gave a lot of time and effort toward getting the club started. They also spent time helping the beginners understand the rules and techniques of golf.

The coaches feel that everyone improved all year and are anticipating a good season next fall. They also hope that the Girls Golf Club will become a girls varsity sport next fall.

Congress Improves School Life

Kim Erb and John Zern go through files so that the 1983-84 Student Congress may be a success.

Freshmen Congress Members: Jenne Hill, Sonia Balian, Doug Kinder, Becky Miller, and Jeannine Poiry.

When there were issues to talk about, problems to solve, and events to organize, Student Congress met on Wednesday nights in room 261. Under the guidance of Co-presidents Bill Fenoglio and Kim Erb and moderator Mr. John O'Connor, Student Congress set out to get something done! However, before they did this, they set up a few goals. These goals were to be organized, to hear the views of the students, and to do as much as possible to improve school life.

The activities of Student Congress took much organization, and some of these activities were the planning of Homecoming Week and Spirit Week. Each of the days during these two weeks had a special theme cooked up by Congress members. A dance followed each week to end things with a bang. Courts were elected for special dances, such as the Prom and the Homecoming Dance. This was also done under the guidance of Congress. The Volleyball Intramurals and many other special activities rounded out a busy year. Much dedication was put forth by the members of Student Congress to help make the year successful.

According to Bill Fenoglio, the Congress had a great year that was really enjoyable. He also said that the year took a lot of time and energy. This can be seen when one knows that not only was the time of the Wednesday night meetings used for planning, but also the time during homeroom. All in all, Student Congress was an exhausting job.

Fortunately, The Congress members were outstanding this year, particularly Bill Kimes, the recipient of the outstanding member award. Bill received this award at Baccalaureate Brunch.

Much thanks should go to the Student Congress members for all the hard work they have done. The officers for the 1983-84 year were Bill Fenoglio, Kim Erb, Bob Anguiano, Tracy Hicks, John Zern, Brett Hagedorn, Cal Miller, Kerry Kitch, and Doug Kinder. Their dedication, time, and effort, along with that of the rest of the members and moderator Mr. John O'Connor, is commendable.

When it came to the views of the students, Student Congress members were always ready to listen. These views would be passed along during the Wednesday night meetings. Co-Presidents Bill and Kim were then asked to attend administrative meetings to give their ideas and comments on certain subjects. All of this appears to accomplish the Congress' goal of listening to the views of others and then doing what could be done.

That's When The Music Takes Them

The music begins to play to a catch up beat. Suddenly, a talented group of students spring to life exclaiming, "That's When the Music Takes Me!" Beyond the bright stage lights the performers can see only the first few rows of their audience. Smiles begin to span the faces of these people, and feet and hands tap to the beat of the music. The song ends, and applause fills the room. The group, known as the Bishop Luers Minstrels, realize they have "truly" accomplished their goal: spreading joy.

The 1983-84 Minstrels is certainly the most aggressive and successful group Luers has had. Their year began with many hours of practice in the heat of late summer. On October 30, 1983, the swing choir found themselves outdoors "Dancing In The Streets" at the Fort Wayne National Bank Swing Choir Contest. After receiving superior ratings by the judges at the contest, the Minstrels continued to perform at various community meetings throughout Fort Wayne and at the Northrop Swing Choir Spectacular on November 19, 1983. For approximately the next three months the group worked extremely hard to perfect their show and prepare for hosting Luers' own nationally acclaimed Swing Choir Invitational. The twenty singers, seven musicians, and technical crew of six dazzled the audience with their variety of songs from the theatrical "Jellicle Songs For Jellicle Cats" to the jazz number, "Don't Get Around Much Anymore." For the first time in their ten-year history, the Minstrels received scores from the judges that ranked them among the top six finalists.

Next on the agenda was the group's annual spring tour. This year the Minstrels toured the Windy City, Chicago. A performance at the Chicago Civic Center highlighted the tour and captured the attention of all passers-by.

Although previous Minstrel groups usually tapered their spring tour, this energetic show ensemble just had to make a few more outstanding appearances. On April 14, 1984, the group packed into an Indiana Motor Bus and headed for Piqua, Ohio, to compete in another contest.

After a sparkling show that gave other competing choirs a new goal to reach, the Minstrels, representing the entire state of Indiana, received the honor of first runner-up with notable class.

WRITING A NEWSPAPER

Putting out the Knight News is not an easy task because there are many different jobs involved.

The person who has the information the reporter needs may be hard to find. Luckily, the front office has everyone's schedule. Reporters use class time or free time to do an interview if one is needed. Before he/she goes for the interview, the reporter should have questions written down and ready to be asked.

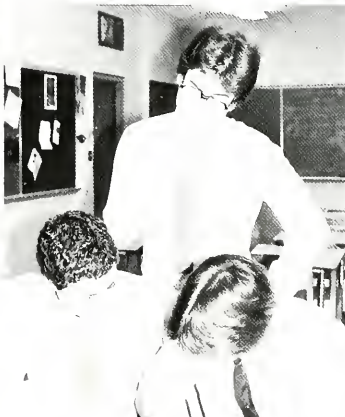

The reporter's ideas and information are put on paper. The word "I" is excluded from a good journalists vocabulary. The article begins with a lead that summarized the story and ends with the least important facts so that the end paragraphs can be cut if there is not enough space in the paper and nothing important will be lost. The story is re-written if there are any mistakes. When the mistakes are corrected the story is sent to the typist. It usually takes five days from the time it is taken to the typist until it is ready for publication.

The typewritten story comes back from the typist. It is cut out and then run through a waxer so it is easier to use during the lay-out.

Lay out takes about three days because pictures and articles are specifically arranged. Headlines can not run together and articles must be clearly separated from one another.

The layout sheets now leave their homes in room 261. Their destiny ... Instant Copy.

Kevin Coffee ponders the work being done by A.D. Choka and Darren Bogdon.

by Kevin Coffee

My main job on the paper is creating the comic strip and doing any other art work needed. When I write, however, I usually try to stick to editorial and feature articles.

News writing is hard for me because I find it difficult to write seriously without adding my own comments or opinions. This gets me into a lot of trouble.

I like writing only when it's fun, and I have fun writing when I use my imagination.

Molly Phillips works hard at the task at hand ... a new layout for the newspaper.

NEEDED: DEDICATION

by Molly Phillips

Putting out a newspaper takes a lot of hard work and dedication from many people, and this year's edition had plenty of it.

Many people do not realize the amount of work involved. First, a writer must decide where to get the information so that it is accurate and unbiased. After the information is gathered, the reporter must write the story. The moderator then checks over it for grammar mistakes. The re-checked paper goes to the typist, Mrs. Haag, and then to Instant Copy. The papers are then distributed to the student body, faculty, and other schools.

People also cannot realize the fun involved in putting together a paper. I learned many things. I learned how to write a news story and how a paper is "laid out." I also liked to interview people to find out their views. I met many new friends that I would have never met, and I had a lot of fun. All the work was definitely worth it, I can hardly wait to work on the paper next year and make it even better.

There are many tasks involved for a journalism student trying to issue a paper for the school.

Once a student is assigned an article to write, they must get started right away so they can meet their deadline. After the students have written their stories the hard work begins.

The articles are all typed and then they are layed out.

Ms. Schrein is annoyed with all of the interruptions on a typical Monday morning.

As a member of the 1984 Newspaper staff I feel I play an important role in making the newspaper. Even if you are a writer you can have other responsibilities as well.

Since there are very few writers on the staff, everyone plays an important role in making the newspaper. Even if you are a writer you can have other responsibilities as well.

I feel good about being on the newspaper staff because every person is valuable.

TEAMWORK IS NEEDED

by Mike Shutt

The Journalism students put long hours into their work for the "Knight News," our school paper.

It is a class where much work is not done in class but rather on your own time.

The Editor-in-chief assigns the articles and pictures to be covered by every student.

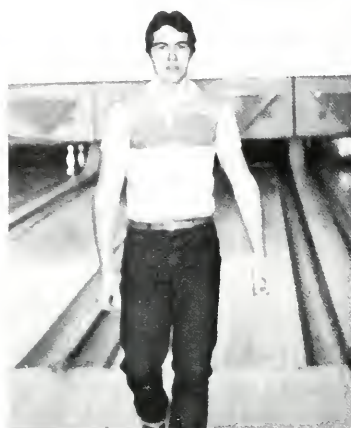

The hard part of current news is covering sports events which are almost impossible because they have one every-day during sports seasons at Luers.

Students help each other correct their errors. If you did notice you will wonder how it was before. It is not easy to cover things which interest everyone.

by Al Oser

The 1983-84 newspaper staff was a good one, but the reason that we had a few bad papers was that during the year we had three teachers. First, we had Fr. Dan Havron, followed by Mrs. Jill Rinne, and concluding with Ms. Mary Schrein. I feel the staff did a very good job if you consider all of the ups and downs we have had. In the years to come I hope that the staff can keep up the good work.

Have A Ball With Luers' Bowlers

This year the Bishop Luers Bowling Club had an exciting time. Members shared both good and bad experiences by demonstrating good sportsmanship, encouraging team members, and offering condolences when gutter balls occurred. Although there were not as many people bowling as in previous years, the group still was more energetic and livelier than a group of 300. "We had fun although we were a small group," says sophomore member John

VanDaele. "You really got to know each other."

At the end of the season awards were given out to the person attaining the highest pin total, highest average and the team in first place. These awards were proudly presented by our moderator, Irene Loudon. Thanks to Ms. Loudon we have been able to extend our "Luers Spirit" tradition.

Under the leadership of Bill Anders, who has been studying martial arts for approximately 4 years and holds a first degree black belt, the Bishop Luers Tae-Kwon-Do Club has prospered. Tae-Kwon-Do was started in the middle of the 1983 school year. The club has practice every Tuesday and Thursday night for about one hour.

The class starts each practice with easy stretching exercises and then continues on to more strenuous exercises. During the class, participants spar (fight) for points which are calculated by the instructor, Mr. Anders.

All of the students practice martial arts on their own, some using weapons as well as their bodies. Some of the students have accomplished the level of yellow belt and will compete in Indianapolis. "This group had a very good time and learned alot," states sophomore member Chris Will.

FBLA Project— 2nd At Convention

The Bishop Luers Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) year, 1983-1984, started out in flying colors. We began with selling painter hats. Different members sold the hats in school and some set a table up at the football games. The hats were a success.

Later FBLA week was celebrated. During the week, various activities took place. Posters were hung up in the halls and different dress attires were scheduled for designated days.

Projects were not beyond the reason of this year's FBLA club. This year, our chapter's project was a field trip for area schools sponsored by the Luers chapter. Participants visited K-mart Distribution Center and North American Van Lines. After the field trip, all were invited back to Luers for a pizza party.

In every business one must attend business dinners and the Luers FBLA was no different. Members dressed in their best and went to Casa D'Angelo for dinner. A real estate man was invited to talk about "how to start a business". Again an FBLA success!

To put a finishing touch on our year in business nine members along with the moderators, Mr. Matthew and Mrs. Hake, went to Ball State University for the annual convention. The group competed in various competitions winning a second place in "most outstanding project". All in all it was a pretty good year.

Food catering was a project which Ms. Beth Berry's Foods II class pursued during the year catering the Music Awards Banquet and the annual Style Bridge. Another class using the foods idea was Ms. Roscoe's health class where groups of students presented projects on nutrition. And who will forget those many cultural days in language classes? Students of Ms. Carteaux can also boast of special selections in the food area both wierd and tasty. Key Clubbers get into the act by selling concessions at home basketball games. New ... But Very Successful

In the 1983-84 school the National Honor Society was under the guidance and leadership of our co-moderators Ms. Mary Lombardo and Ms. Jill Rinne. As co-moderators they met with the National Honor Society board to arrange meetings, invite guest speakers to the meetings, and of course to get the National Honor Society members working on different activities throughout the school year. Considering that both the board and the co-moderators were completely new this year, they worked very well together.

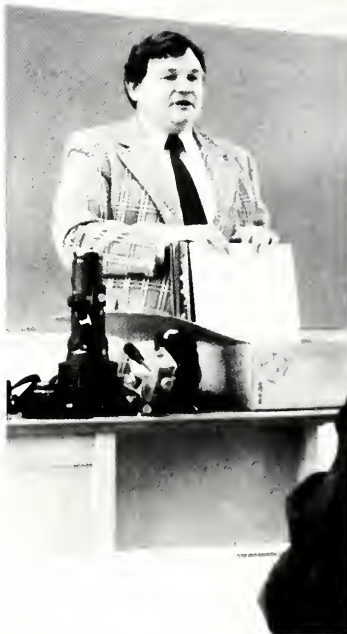

The 1983-84 National Honor Society board consisted of: Senior Mike Gigli as president, Junior Wendy Baach as Vice President, Senior Kevin Adamson as Treasurer, and Senior Teresa DeVido as Secretary. Along with the board were the four different committees of the National Honor Society. These committees are headed by a Senior and a Junior. The four different committees are: Education, Publicity, New Student, and one for Career Day.

The National Honor Society was heavily involved in two large activities at Luers. The first was, Career Day, in which the National Honor Society invited speakers of different professions to talk to the students about their different occupations, arranged the speakers' schedules, and also the students schedules. Because of the hard work put into it by Ms. Lombardo, Ms. Rinne, Karolyn Kinder, and the rest of the National Honor Society members it was a huge success.

The second activity was the North Central Evaluation. The National Honor Society acted as the welcoming committee and tour guide as the North Central team evaluated our school.

The National Honor Society is growing every year and has many promising years ahead.

Note taking is a must for the board including: Mike Gigli, Wendy Baach, and Teresa DeVido.

Overcoming stagefright, Kevin Adamson addresses the school community.

Rob Neher asks during breakfast at Band Camp, "Grant, may I please have your last raisin?"

Marching Luers Style

The Bishop Luers Marching Band took on a new look this season—clean, sharp-looking new uniforms. The white jacket with piping in black and a red cape together with the embroidered Knight insignia gave each member the look of a modern Knight.

Besides the new uniform the band's performance was remarkably improved. They were runner-up at the Three Rivers Festival Parade and received a second division rating at the District ISSMA Marching Band Contest. The band also amazed the large crowd in Indianapolis with a near perfect performance. Our band definitely showed the Chatard crowd what "Marching—Luers Style" was all about as members of the Chatard band stood in awe!

The Band entered concert season performing at both Christmas and Spring concerts. They also competed at the ISSMA Concert Band Contest where they received a second division rating, a well deserved mark since they competed in a higher class this year.

Accompanying the Band again was the Auxiliary Band. They also had uniforms designed to complement the new band look. In addition to marching season the girls also performed during half times at home basketball games. In late March the group competed in their ISSMA Auxiliary Contest where they received two—firsts and one—second. The girls finished their season with a remarkable routine performance at the Spring Concert.

The entire instrumental music season can be determined a success and the group awaits bigger and better accomplishments in the future.

Hallume! The Bishop Luers Band performs to the delight of the football fans.

Veronica Bahl and Brigid Welch pose before the camera before their Rock-Around-The-Clock routine at the ISSMA Contest.

Greg Gochtovt experiences this year's initiation ceremony complete with Indian Paint and make-up.

Chris Will wonders if he will have to do any more push-ups, a punishment used by Mr. Anders to keep the members in line.

Members of the band frantically prepare to perform in front of the school assembly.

"Attention— Ground Control . . .

Watch your desk in the next class you have or our new robot may be taking it over! Yes, it's true! We now have a resident robot on the Luers Campus.

Thanks to the interest of teacher, Jan Kahre, and three students, Becky Clusserath, Ed Bodette, and Doug Gremaux, our robot actually came alive. The group spent time at many Saturday workshops and countless hours assembling the parts. The project actually started with screws, nuts, bolts, circuit boards, and wiring. With steady hands the wires were soldered and the pieces were put in place.

So, don't walk down the hall, unobserving in the future. You may find yourself being beckoned by a new friend. But, one real question remains: DOES A ROBOT NEED A HALL PASS?

Mrs. Jan Kahre, Luers advisor for the Robotics project, studies the manual before sitting through all the parts.

Our robot poses for its yearbook picture. Ed Bodette and Becky Clusserath check wiring before a practice run.

Becky Clusserath just cannot escape the robot's grip.

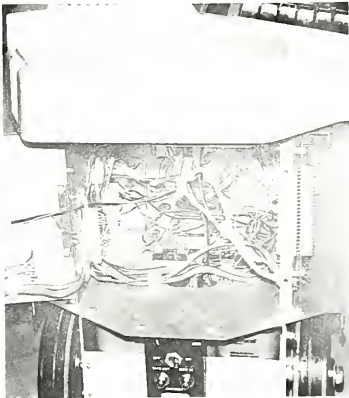

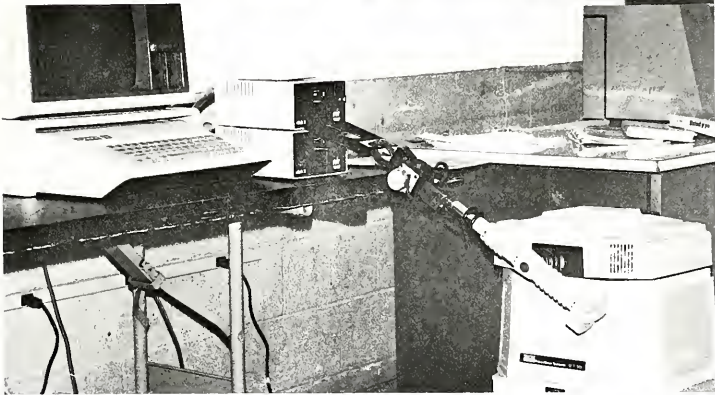

A robot needs to use a computer, too!!!

Ed Bodette assembles a few of the intricate parts.

The Robot shows its "guts."

Becky Clusserath finds a steady hand is necessary when soddering on a circuit board.

Intramurals Take The Stress Out of School

Mark Litchfield puts style and power into his set for Dan Parsenow who awaits the return of the ball.

Don Golden puts concentration and power into serving the ball over the net.

Brian Stalter, Pete Disser, Jerry Jenkins, Terry Hipskind, Tom Minnick, Dave Zirille, Ruben Rodriguez, and Mike Romary look on as they wait their turn to compete.

Mike Jenkins looks up at the ball hoping it will come his way.

Luers Goes International Again

Joaquín Guzmán came to Ft. Wayne already graduated from a high school in Mexico. He was interested in the Education System in this part of the world and decided to become an exchange student. He wished to pursue a career in the field of Marine Biology. Although Joaquín has been to the States before, he enjoyed the friends, the interest of the teachers at Luers, and everyone he met. One thing he found interesting was the movies in Ft. Wayne.

Joaquín was involved in Track and Intramurals. The Roesler's, his host family, purchased a membership at the Southeast Y where he spent a lot of time.

Joaquín Guzmán listens as Track coach Mr. Ambrose gives him a few last minute instructions before Joaquín goes to perform his specialty—Shot Putt.

Dave Fillery takes the lead as Paul Pine hands him the baton in the Carroll Relays.

Dave Fillery, one of the two foreign exchange students, is from Australia. He stayed with Gloria and Kerry Ambrose, Spanish teacher and Track coach, during his stay in the U.S. and attended Bishop Luers to finish his senior year.

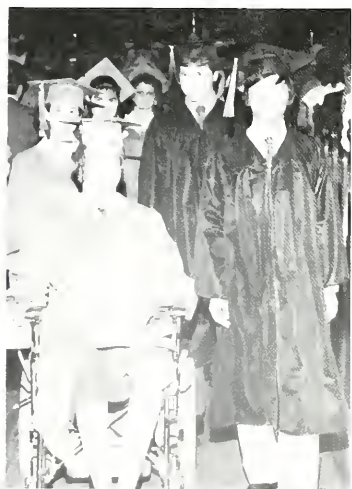

Dave showed his athletic ability in Track and Wrestling. He also made the 5-2 club and played Volleyball in the Old Spice Tournament.

He really enjoyed his stay in the United States, especially in Ft. Wayne. Dave Thoroughly like the Bishop Luers students. He remarked with a laugh, "Everyone was really nice."

Congratulations 1984 Grads

Shari Gillig, Vera Glaspie, and Julie Haber admire their well-deserved diplomas.

Debbie Wagner and Tin Truong lead the procession out of the Cathedral.

Lisa Kennerk and her mother in a tender moment.

Julie Cramner, Sandy Alter, Jenny Daniel, Julie Haber, Julie Antoine, Kris Hall, Wendy Baach, Tina Didion, and Patty Becker await the final prayer.

Molly Ryan reads the opening prayer during the Baccalaureate Mass.

Kevin Adamson gives the traditional Salutatorian speech.

Tammy Palmersheim sings "The Way We Were" as part of the commencement exercises.

Fr. Fred and Jeanne Bero smile for the camera.

Kevin Adamson, Wendy Baach, Julie Antoine, and Sandy Alter discuss pre-graduation jitters.

Nick Bowers, Mike Bodette, Steve Bermes, Kevin Bermes, Jeff Belot, Vince Balian, Joaquin Guzman, Rodney Alter, and Tim Alderdice wait to move their tassels.

Tim Mullins and a future Luers Graduate.

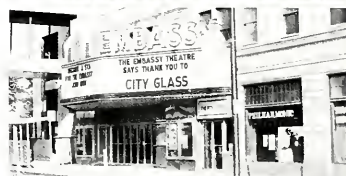

Ann Schreiber reads during the Baccalaureate Mass.

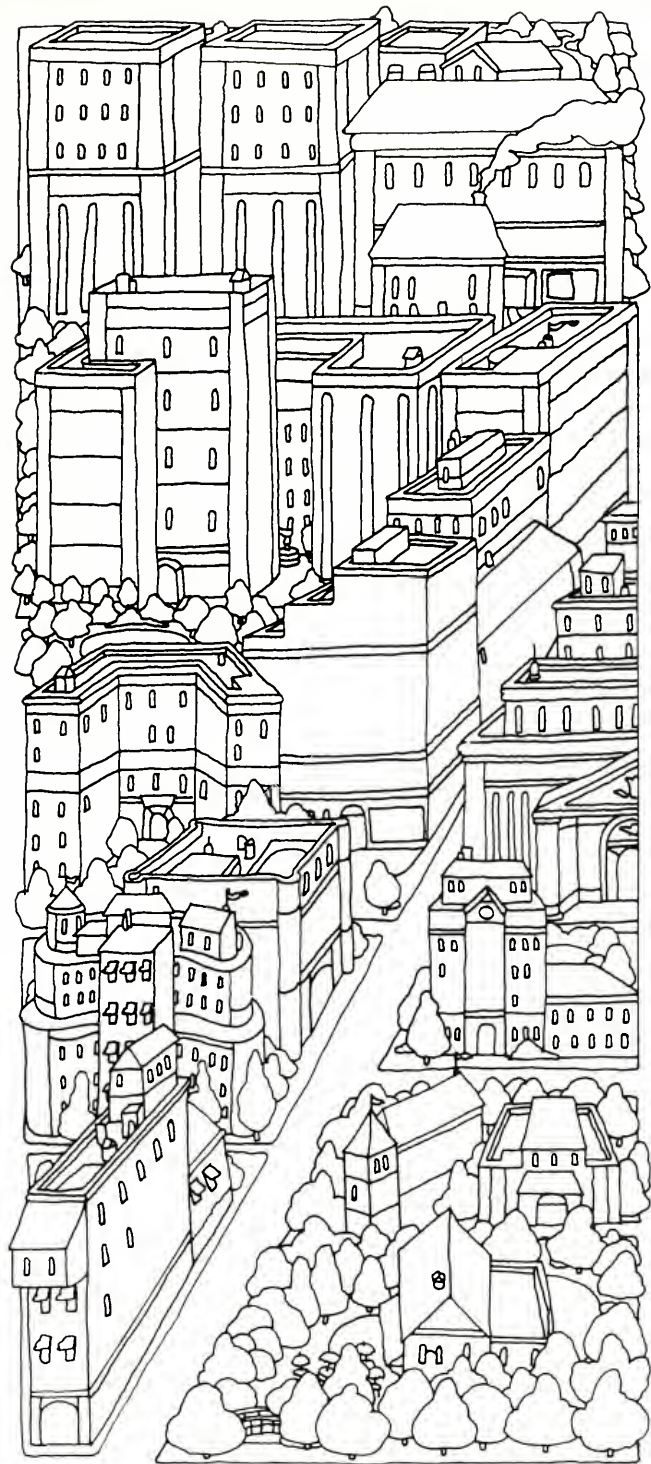

Tracy Hicks, valedictorian, gives a moving speech during the graduation ceremony.

Theresa Devido and Marianne Frecker smile at the thought of being alumnae.

Bishop McManus leaves the graduates with a few words of wisdom on which to ponder.

Shari Gillig and Paul Coy lead the departing graduates.

Recording Luers History

It's finally over is the expression given by Mindy Moser as she works on the final layout of the sophomore section.

Photographer Paul Logan eyes his next "subject" for a picture. Paul was the Photography editor for the Accolade.

Advisor, Ms. Jo Ann Roscoe, picks out some negatives that will be used as pictures in the yearbook.

Sports Editor Kevin Ward, one of the eight newcomers to the yearbook staff this year did a super job on his section.

Megan Goggin and Lisa Hill look up at the camera as they browse through old yearbooks to get ideas for this year's edition.

Kari Kinder, Editor-in-chief, works hard to complete the senior credits for the senior section.

Club and Academics Editor John VanDaele puts a lot of time and effort into this year's yearbook at the meetings held after school every day and during the summer months to finish the book.

ACCOLADE 1983-84

As I write this at about 2:15 a.m. on June 29, I realize regretfully that we are several days past our final deadline. Accolade 1983-84 will only be slightly late and that is a triumph because this yearbook has had its share of problems.

But even with the problems many people helped me tremendously with this yearbook and I would like to express my sincere thanks to them. First, to Ms. Roscoe, the lady who agreed to be advisor when no one else would. She kept me going especially near the end. Also I need to thank Fr. Dan who got me started and convinced me to carry on even after he left. Mr. Jon Winteregg, our Herfi Jones representative, who spent a lot of time teaching me the basics. A big thank you to my parents, especially my mom, who had to put up with me through the whole thing. And last but certainly not least, the photographers and 1983-84 yearbook staff who stuck with me until the end.

Accolade 1983-84 may not be an award winner and granted there are some mistakes, but it is a great yearbook because of the people who worked on it. We all gave of our time, our talents, our energy, and a part of ourselves to this yearbook. We all worked on it together and we finished it together and to me that is better than any award. So to all the Luers students, this is your book and I can only hope that it will be as special to you as it has been and will always be to me! Thank you very much.

Sincerely,
Kari Kinder
Editor

THANKS!!

Special thanks go out to Ron Merkler, Tim Ehinger, Lisa Esquivel, Al Oser, Kevin Coffee, Molly Phillips, Darren Bogdon, Mike Shutt, Lisa Kennerk, Tracy Hicks, John Zern, Neal Davenport, Brian Budreau, Jeannine Poiry, Mike Millikan, Ms. Mary Lombardo, Mr. Larry Gerardot, Kevin Mowan, our photographers: Paul Logan, Brian Keith, John Gabrek, and Chad Garnette, for helping prepare this volume of the Accolade. A special thank you is extended to Mr. Jon Winteregg, Herfi Jones Representative, whose knowledge, patience and time were a great asset in getting this yearbook started and rolling over a short period of time.

Herff Jones Yearbook Company of Montgomery, Alabama printed 350 copies of the 1983-84 Accolade "We Did It Right." A staff of 22 compiled the 168 page book on Bordeaux #80 paper with a symth sewn binding. The cover specifications include Flag Red 1003 and Black 1075, applied color Rich Gold 0015, stiff board, and 160 pt. board weight. Body type was 10 pt. Optima, index and captions were 8 pt. Optima, and senior captions were 6 pt. Headlines were 24 and 36 pt. with subheadlines at 18 pt. 72 pt. white letter in a 100% Black screen were used on the far right third of each division page. The cover contains the distinctive crest of Bishop Luers High School. The crest bears the Franciscan coat of arms inset into the Franciscan TAU cross and topped with the turret, symbol of Fort Wayne. A book representing learning and scripture rests opened upon the cross out of which rises the Knight. The design was executed and presented to Fr. Fred Link by Mr. Jim Kress. Photography equipment was provided by Waters Studio, Inc. The book contains over 1700 photos. Photographers used over 200 rolls of 20 exposure 400 ASA film. Our representative from Herff Jones Yearbook Company was Mr. Jon Winteregg.

Ms. Jo Ann Roscoe, Advisor.

For years I have always been one to just sit and enjoy yearbooks at Bishop Luers High School—complementing as well as criticizing. Working on the Accolade this year has been a truly unique experience. It makes you learn to appreciate all the hard work that goes into preparing such a publication. And hard working students is what this yearbook is all about.

With the departure of Fr. Dan Havron and the acquiring of a new—totally inexperienced advisor—the staff members took it upon themselves to make this yearbook happen. But, they were not alone in their cause. The Luers community was there to help. Staff members approached more than 30 different students, faculty members, coaches, parents, and school staff members for help in article writing, ads, photographs, and general support. Once again the Luers community would not let a group down.

The product, which you have undoubtedly looked through by now, may not be the best in quality but it represents concentrated efforts by 22 staff members over a short, 3-month period of time. Such work is highly commendable. The dedication to the cause is truly inspiring.

I find myself quite honored to have been a part of the making of this 1983-84 yearbook. It is a real example of how the Luers family pulls together to make things happen. The Accolade staff and Luers community should be proud of this book. Together "We, truly, Did It Right!"
